
Table of Contents

- Eva Kushner: Presidential Address

- Dieter Sevin: The German Literary Diaspora: Return and Reception in Post-War Germany

- Luc Renders: The Diaspora Motif in Recent Afrikaans Prose Texts

- Geoffrey V. Davis: Addressing the Silences of the Past: Truth and Reconciliation in Post-Apartheid Theatre

- Esther V. Schneider Handschin: 'For Him Exile Always Meant the Escape into His True Homeland, into the Spirit of Humanity': On the Cultural Identity of Hermann Broch and Stefan Zweig

- Véronique Wakerley: Jules Romains' 'Unanimist' Heroine: Love and the Problem of Urban Solitude

- Henriette Roos: Revising Stanley's Footsteps: Encountering the 'Other' in Darkest England (1996) by Christopher Hope

- Patricia O'Flaherty: 'Which Native Land?': The Pied Noir Writer in Exile

- Heinz Wetzel: Mythic Imagery about the 'Third World' in German Literature

- T.E. Knight: An African Oedipus: The Alien Encounter as Mythic Motif

- Ligia Vassallo: Charlemagne in Brazil

- Anton Janko: Vida the Beautiful and her Zamorec: The Allure of the Exotic Stranger in Slovene Literature

- Meta Grosman: Literary Translation for the Third Millennium